Salt-Water Moon

By David French

Directed by Johnna Wright

July 5 - 28, 2013

On a sparkling moonlit evening on the little patch of rock known as Coley's Point, Newfoundland, a love story unfolds. Former sweethearts Mary Snow and Jacob Mercer express the humours and disappointments of young love as Jacob tries to win back Mary's affections. This charming gem of a play, funny, evocative, and lovingly written, will fill you with wanderlust and inspire a yearning to return home.

The Station Arts Centre opened as a theatre and art gallery in October 1990 after extensive renovations to the former CN train station. Its focus remains the promotion of the arts in the Saskatchewan Valley. Since its opening, a state-of-the-art theatre has been constructed, and a tea room has been established and is flourishing. The Station Arts Centre is known across Canada for its professional concerts, theatre presentations, and art gallery exhibitions.

The Tea Room has become a popular daytime dining venue for area patrons and tourists. It features delicious, home cooked lunches and breakfasts, afternoon teas and pre-event dinners by reservation. Local produce and non-processed ingredients are used whenever possible.
